Introduction/overview

Drewry provides robust, independent vessel valuation services covering charter attached, charter-free and residual scenarios across all major shipping sectors. Our valuations are grounded in deep market intelligence, proprietary data and ongoing engagement with shipowners, charterers and global financial institutions.

Our approach

Our valuation methodology, developed over many years, is underpinned by extensive market research resources with access to both proprietary or third-party databases of:

- Sale and purchase (S&P) transactions
- Time charter and spot market rates
- Fleet age profiles and trading patterns

Our experience

For more than 20 years Drewry has delivered vessel valuations for a wide range of clients including banks, shipowners and insurers. Our portfolio spans hundreds of valuations across container ships, bulk carriers, tankers, LNG carriers and offshore support vessels. Our combined team of maritime research specialists and financial research consultants bring decades of experience and are supported by Drewry's globally recognised maritime research.
